Thirty of Them Killed in a Battle With Gen. Wheaton's Forces at Pasig.

CITY CAPTURED BY THE AMERICANS. BATTLE SHIPS AND TORPEDO BOATS. CIVIL GOVERNOR MORA INTERFERES.

San Nicolo, Guadalupe and Pateros Was Next Attacked and Taken by Wheaton's Troops.

The American Loss Was Two Killed and Six Wounded-A Few of the Filipinos Were Taken Prisoners - A Whirlwind Campaign Has Now Begun.

MANILA, March 14.-The Filipino army has been cut in twain by a powerful flying column of artillery, cav alry and infantry under Brig. Gen. Wheaton. This great strategic achieve ment has cut off completely all communication between the northern and southern divisions of Aguinaldo's army. It is the most skilful maneuver of the American troops yet carried into effect in the Philippine fight.

MANILA, March 14. -At daylight Monday Brig. Gen. Lloyd Wheaton's divisional brigade, consisting of the 20th United States infantry, the 22d infantry, eight companies of the Washington volunteers, seven companies of the Oregon volunteers, three troops of the 4th United States cavalry and a mounted battery of the 6th artillery, was drawn up on a ridge behind San Pedro Macati, a mile south of the town.

The advance was sounded at 6:30 a m., the cavalry leading the column, at a smart trot, across the open to the right, eventually reaching a clump commanding the rear of Gudalupe.

Supported by the Oregon volunteers, the advance force opened a heavy fire on the rebels. The response was feeble and desultory, apparently coming from handfuls of men in every covert.

While the right column was swinging toward the town of Pasig, the left advanced, pouring volleys into the bush.

A small body of rebels made a determined stand at Guadalupe church, buthe enemy was unable to withstand the assault.

At 7:30 a. m. a river gunboat started toward Pasig. The rebels were fire encountered by this vessel in the jungle near Guadalupe. Steaming slowly. the gunboat poured a terrific fire from her Gatling guns into the brush. For all of an hour the whirring of the rapid fire guns alternated with the booming of the heavier pieces on board.

In the meantime Scott's battery. then advanced to the ridge of bamboo and drove a few of the enemy's sharpshooters away with volleys from their carbines. The artillery then advanced and met with little opposition.

In the meantime the infantry had been sent forward in extended order, the Washington regiment resting on the bank of the river, each regiment deploying on reaching its station and furnishing its own supports.

The entire column then wheeled towards the river, driving the enemy towards his supports and then advanced to Guadalupe.

The artillery moved to a ridge commanding Pasig and Parteros.

By this time the enemy was in full flight along a line over a mile long. and the fire was discontinued temporarily, in order to give the troops a rest before making the attack on Pasig.

The enemy's loss was believed to be severe; but only eight Americans were wounded.

At 11:30 a. m. the column came in contact with the enemy, and a gunboat steamed to the firing line and cleared the jungle on both sides, while the battery took up a position on a bluff to the right. The first shot from the American field pieces, at 1,200 yards range, dislodged a gun of the enemy at Pasig. After the town had been shelled, the 20th regiment lined up on the bluff, and the 22d took up a position on the left of the place, with the cavalry in the center, whereupon the enemy retreated to the town.

The gunboat then moved into a bend opposite, and a hot fire on the rebel position was maintained along the whole American line until 2:20 p. m., when preparations were made for the attack. At 3 p. m. our gunboat started in pursuit of the enemy's tug, chasing her to the lake. At 3:80 p. m. a large body of the enemy was discovered working around our right flank, and the 20th regiment moved to a commanding range. The rebels were met opposite Pateros. but the enemy bolted.

Thirty of the rebels were killed, as already cabled. 16 were taken prisoners, and the Americans lost six men wounded. About 700 rebels were reported to be marching northward a few miles to the southwest. The Americans lost two men killed during the advance. They were: Private Stewart, Company B, 20th infantry. Private Munson, Company K, 22d infantry. The wounded were: Theodore Misner, John Blaziek, William O'Brien, William Rhinehard, Willet Harmon, all 22d infantry; R. Piper, C. Sumner, Matt Sharkey, 20th infantry; Walter Ervin, of the Oregon volunteers.

HAVANA, March 14.-Frederick Mora, civil governor of Havana, when he learned Monday morning of the preparations for an outpouring of people in honor of Gen. Gomez, directed the police to prevent the parade. They tried to do so. Chief of Police Menocal, with his mounted inspectors and policemen, by twos and threes, attempted to turn back the various societies that were marching toward Quinta de los Molinas, the residence of Gomez.

At first little attention was paid to these efforts. When a policeman seized a flag or made an individual ar- The Rebels March Against and Capture rest the others in the line would simply march on jeering and yelling: "Down with the Police!" "Long Live Gomez!" "Death to the Assembly!"
